

DSP Hadzwan is an MBA graduate (2017) from AeU.

Build your studies around your lifestyle

AeU's Master of Business Administration (MBA) programmes are increasingly popular among Malaysian working adults and also those from overseas. Its curriculum serves to enhance learners' business and industry knowledge and improve management, leadership and strategic decision-making skills. Entrepreneurs and professionals gain from enhancing their skills and seeking new perspectives in complex business scenarios in an Asian context.

Deputy Superintendent of Police Hadzwan Zulkefle graduated with an MBA degree from AeU in 2017. He shares, "I like the way the AeU MBA programme was taught as it enabled me to broaden my knowledge in the aspects of business. The subjects offered are extremely useful in developing a wider knowledge in leadership and research skills. From day one I was immersed in a global learning environment and given the right training combined with the understanding of an emerging Asia market.

"The knowledge and experiences gained from seminars and workshops can be applied in a variety of settings. I have gained a global perspective with an in-depth knowledge of the Asian economies and how to recommend solutions that go beyond international boundaries, learn to apply the right analytical tools in a variety of different settings for rational decision-making and demonstrate holistic awareness of relevant trends impacting contemporary business.

"The flexibility I enjoyed during my study allows minimal disruption to my family, work commitments and challenges in adjusting my time and roles as a public officer, husband and father."

AeU School of Management dean, Associate Prof Dr Wan Sabri Wan Hussin, says, "The AeU MBA programme, which provides world-class managerial instruction in a unique atmosphere, is designed for working adults regardless of the nature of their profession. The uniqueness of the programme is its focus on Asian insights based on the best practices of some of Asia's most successful companies that distinguishes AeU MBA graduates.

"We stress not only the development of rigorous analytical tools and problem-solving skills but also the application of moral principles needed to use those abilities wisely. We want to help develop effective managers and leaders of outstanding professional capability with integrity, faith and strong moral character who will influence the world for good."

AeU's MBA programme is offered through full-time (one year), part-time or blended (one and a half years) and fully online (one and a half years) modes. All classes are held during weekends and ideal for busy working adults.

Let the AeU MBA experience be the wind behind your sails as you navigate the challenges and opportunities of the 21st century.

AeU's blended learning, pedagogies and e-learning has been able to support thousands of student enrolments from different geographical regions. AeU has successfully connected thousands of students, faculty members, academic facilitators, subject matter experts and administrators via the Internet using the university's learning management system, myPLS. Additionally, AeU students can access the library digital collection of over 100,000 e-books, 71,000 e-journals and 1.6 million e-theses titles.

AeU is a multinational university established in 2007 under the auspices of the 34 Asia Cooperation Dialogue (ACD) countries. All its academic programmes ranging from diploma to doctorate levels are approved by the Ministry of Higher Education Malaysia and accredited with the Malaysian Qualifications Agency.

Besides its presence in many of the 34 ACD member countries, AeU has also spread its wings to other non-member countries all over the world.

The 2017 Setara ranking has ranked AeU as a "Very Good" university among a total of 71 universities ranked in Malaysia.

It emerged as top among the open and distance learning (ODL) universities.

Today, AeU has a diverse and robust international community of over 29,000 students from around 84 countries.

AeU's strong network of 15,000 alumni comprises both local and foreign nationalities and is making a difference around the globe. Students can tap into this network to connect with AeU's alumni, many who are now holding prominent positions globally.

AeU students can also get mentorship from professionals, insights on industries and develop friendships with their peers that extend beyond just business.

Admissions for the postgraduate programmes can be through the regular entry or flexible APEL entry, which accepts candidates wishing to pursue tertiary education even if they lack the basic education requirement stipulated in the regular entry as they are assessed by their prior learning experience acquired through formal and informal training and work experiences that can compensate for the lack of actual paper qualifications.
