What our MEd graduates says:

Mr. Chow Chee Keong, an owner & principal of The Learning Garden, Penang enrolled for MEd programme in Jan 2013 and graduated in September 2014. He says, "I chose AeU because it is a well-established and recognised university. The digital library has rich online resources that gave me easy access to thousands of e-books, e-journals, e-theses, etc., which was awesome for my learning experience and for my research paper."

Chow says, "The MEd course was tough at first but AeU's flexible learning mode gradually enabled me to manage and prioritise my time more effectively in work, study and family commitments."

"The MEd programme was interesting and the theories are practical and applicable in my job. I learned valuable inputs on how to refine and improve my research paper presented at one of AeU's postgraduate research seminar on an in-depth study of how children behave under various play situations. Teaching of mathematics through play shows how teacher-engineered socio-dramatic play is effective in promoting mathematical learning especially in the area of logical mathematical processing. As the founder/owner of a pre-school, the degree provided an added endorsement of qualification not only for me but also to my school," he adds.
