PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The Doctor of Education (EdD) is a professional doctoral programme designed for educators and practitioners who aspire to lead, innovate, and transform the education landscape. This programme integrates educational theory, research, and practice, enabling students to critically analyse challenges, develop solutions, and implement effective strategies in diverse educational settings. With a strong focus on real-world application, the EdD equips students with advanced inquiry skills to improve teaching, learning, and educational leadership.

Ideal for experienced professionals, this programme caters to school leaders, educators, trainers, and education specialists who are shaping policies, enhancing learning experiences, and driving innovation in curriculum, assessment, and educational technology. Whether you are a principal, teacher, higher education administrator, corporate trainer, or someone passionate about advancing education, the EdD provides the knowledge and expertise to lead with confidence and inspire meaningful change.
